ABOUT CLINICIAN KIM PERLMAN

Kim Perlman is a professional horse trainer who owns and runs Riverstone Equine LLC. Based out of Central Valley, NY and Williston, FL, Riverstone is a full-service hunter jumper training and boarding operation. Riverstone has been in operation for over 30 years and today attends horse shows throughout the United States. Riverstone South has expanded to a full time breeding, training and rehab center which runs year round.

As a junior Kim had a successful career under the direction of George Morris and then continued his education with five-time Olympian Anne Kursinski, a relationship that continues to this day. These days Kim can be found training juniors from their first rides on ponies to qualifying for equitation finals, coaching adult riders to success in the hunters and jumpers, bringing young horses along, and managing the maintenance of client horses so they can have long, successful careers. ## ABOUT TRADE WINDS FARM

Trade Winds Farm is a state-of-the-art equestrian facility located in Rexford, New York. The facilities boast 70+ lush acres with breathtaking views of the Mohawk River, an outdoor arena of 140x280 feet with superb all-weather footing and "A" show quality jumps. If the weather should not cooperate, the clinic will be held in Trade Winds Farm's heated indoor arena which also includes impeccable footing and plenty of comfortable space for auditors.

Trade Winds Farm was built from the ground up by the D'Ambra family and is currently managed and operated by professional horsewoman Agatha D'Ambra, a Grand Prix rider who uses horsemanship as a staple to every program at Trade Winds Farm.

Agatha was born and raised in Upstate New York, where she began a riding career that includes multiple wins in international Grand Prix Show Jumping as well as competitive ranch sorting events. Agatha enjoys every aspect of horse training, including coaching students and working with equines from foals to high performance horses. Agatha always strives to improve herself and her horses by continuing to learn and study with some of the best in the industry. By hosting clinics at her farm, Agatha invites you to join her in this practice.
