ABOUT CLINICIAN RONNY RIEMER

Ronny is an accomplished Grand Prix and Championship rider with over 20 years experience in the sport horse industry. Riding for names like Franke Sloothak and Paul Schockemöhle, Ronny made a name for himself as an international rider and trainer, not just in Germany but also in other parts of Europe and North America. Knowing the difference between the European and American way of riding, Ronny combines the best of both styles to individually suit both horse and rider.

As founder and owner of RCR Equestrian Inc. Ronny specializes in importing European Warmbloods for the US market. The training and showing occurs out of RCR's European Style Equestrian facility Griffin's Landing, based in the horse capital of the world, Ocala Florida. Ronny believes in traditional horsemanship. He stresses the importance of clear communication with your horse and working on a consistent disciplined training plan to reach your goals rather than turning to quick-fix training aids. Lessons focus on the importance of solid flatwork and include simple exercises to help improve both horse and rider, and their understanding of one another. ABOUT TRADE WINDS FARM

Trade Winds Farm is a state-of-the-art equestrian facility located in Rexford, New York. The facilities boast 70+ lush acres with breathtaking views of the Mohawk River, an outdoor arena of 140x280 feet with superb all-weather footing and "A" show quality jumps. If the weather should not cooperate, the clinic will be held in Trade Winds Farm's heated indoor arena which also includes impeccable footing and plenty of comfortable space for auditors.

Trade Winds Farm was built from the ground up by the D'Ambra family and is currently managed and operated by professional horsewoman Agatha D'Ambra, a Grand Prix rider who uses horsemanship as a staple to every program at Trade Winds Farm.

Agatha was born and raised in Upstate New York, where she began a riding career that includes multiple winds in international Grand Prix Show Jumping as well as competitive ranch sorting events. Agatha enjoys every aspect of horse training, including coaching students and working with equines from foals to high performance horses. Agatha always strives to improve herself and her horses by continuing to learn and study with some of the best in the industry. By hosting clinics at her farm, Agatha invites you to join her in this practice. For more information on Trade Winds Farm and Agatha, please visit www.tradewindsfarm.com or find us on Facebook.
